* These findings are derived from testing by an independent third party auditor, specializing in travel industry data analysis, that conducted an in-depth, unbiased study focused on travel search technology used by traditional travel agents in January 2016. The corporate low fare search study analyzed the performance of three search technologies: Amadeus Master Pricer Travelboard™, Sabre's Bargain Finder™ Max and Travelport e-Pricing™. The benchmark was performed using 3,418 data sets – roundtrips, 580 top routes (airport to airport), three departure dates for each city pair, two stay durations, one adult traveler, a mix of international and domestic routes, for travel starting February 2016 to April 2016. The results were used to measure the following components: findability and average savings. The analyses were done on a specific set of data. Actual results may vary. The products mentioned are subject to trademarks owned by Amadeus, Sabre, and Travelport, respectively.
